Feedlot Manager Defies Scabies Rules, Decries State Harassment

"You may have to fight, but you don't have to watch it," this youngster seems to be thinking as he puts up his dukes in the opening match Saturday night of the first Canyon Boxing Club tournament, which drew teams from Dimmitt and Amarillo. Other boxing matches are scheduled in the near future here.

A Randall County feedlot manager, who charged that current scabies eradication program control techniques amount to harassment, decided to fight the Texas Animal Health Commission's rules through the courts Tuesday.

Wayne Bedwell, manager of the Happy Wheat Growers Feedyard, a 25,000-head operation in the southern portion of the county, was charged Tuesday with a minor misdemeanor offense, even the existence of which was publicly questioned by his attorney.

Bedwell, who has been manager of the feedyard since mid-summer, is charged with failure to gather his cattle for submission to the scraping procedure involved in the scabies testing program.

The scabies eradication program of the Texas Animal Health Commission has been in existence for more than a year. As a part of the system, inspectors in each county periodically check herds to insure owners' compliance with state dipping requirements.

Bedwell charged Tuesday that the inspectors do more harassing than checking and that they pick on feedyards "because we're convenient."

The case is a first in Randall County and could set a nationwide precedent. Bedwell and his attorney, A. W. Lair, indicated they will fight the law "to the Supreme Court," if necessary.

Greg Wade, who is with the animal health commission in Amarillo, said Bedwell refused to allow inspectors to scrape his cattle for later microscopic tests last weekend. The charge resulted from his refusal.

Wade said three commission inspectors operate in the county.

"He told them he'd let them look at his cattle, but he wouldn't let them scrape them," Wade said of Bedwell.

Wade said the inspectors felt some of Bedwell's cattle "looked suspicious."

The commission representative said he was "not trying to hurt him (Bedwell). We're just trying to get his attention."

Wade said Bedwell is required by law to submit to inspections.

Bedwell appeared before Justice of the Peace W. A. "Bill" Wilson Tuesday afternoon on the charge.

Wilson read Bedwell and his attorney the charge and then asked for Bedwell's plea.

"Before he enters a plea one way or the other on this thing, we'd like to know where this offense comes from," Lair told Wilson. "I can't find any such law."

"I saw it yesterday," Wilson said.

"I'd like to see it before he does anything," Lair said.

Wilson summoned Randall County Dist. Atty. George Dowlen, who admitted later he is a stockholder in Happy Wheat Growers Feedyards, to bring the law.

After several minutes of haggling, Lair said Bedwell's plea is innocent.

"We're not against the control of scabies," Lair said. "We're just against their procedures."

"The silly thing about this complaint is that they got him for failure to gather," Lair said. "If you've got 25,000 head of cattle on a 40-acre tract of land, how in the hell much closer can you get them?"

In an interview with The News later, Bedwell said the Texas Animal Health Commission is perpetuating a gross inconsistency.

He charged that the commission requires that cattle be dipped when brought into a cattle feed yard. The commission, he said, will not, however, guarantee that the dipping will totally eradicate scabies mite, the small animal which causes the skin disease on cattle.

Therefore, he said, the commission requires cattlemen to perform an act — dipping — which they cannot say will control spread of the disease, and then punish the cattlemen if scabies is found in their herd even after dipping.

He said the process of inspection of cattle has become harassment, since if cattle are found to have mites, inspectors can require owners to redip their entire herd.

Bedwell said his herd was treated in the manner prescribed by the law and the animal health commission.

He said the inspectors zealousness in scraping animals is just a ploy to keep employees hired by the animal health commission at work and in a job.

"It gives them something for the lab to do so they can keep their people busy," he said.

Lair said he hopes the action taken by Bedwell will ultimately benefit all cattle owners.

He said Bedwell's efforts are aimed at gaining sensible support for a logical and well-organized control program rather than an eradication program for scabies.

Qualifications For WTSU Pres. Will Be Suggested By Chamber

By DOUG McDONOUGH

Recommendations on qualifications a new president of West Texas State University should possess will be outlined in a letter to be drafted by a five-man committee appointed Monday night by the Canyon Chamber of Commerce board of directors.

The committee will work jointly with a similar committee from the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce on a letter to be sent the screening committee and the university's board of regents.

The letter will list qualifications and might even list recommendations for the job.

Dr. James P. Cornette, current president of WTSU, is scheduled to retire in the next two years. A screening board of faculty, administrators, and area businessmen was established by the regents before Christmas to accept and screen applications for the job.

"We need as president someone who can get publicity for WTSU as well as Canyon," said board member David West. "This person will need to know his way around Washington and, in addition to being a scholar, be a businessman."

West was appointed by board president Raymond Raillard as chairman of the committee to draft the chamber's proposals.

"This could be the most important thing to happen to the Panhandle in the '70s," Lt. Col. John Childs said. "This could be our only opportunity for maybe the next 20 years to help find someone who will be an asset for our town and the whole Panhandle."

Committee members will be West, Childs, Jim B. Brown, Raillard, and Cary Magness.

In other action, the board approved a $11,737 budget for 1973 for the chamber's operation.

Major expenditures on the budget are salaries, $6600; community development, $1000; education committee, $757; tourist committee, $450; business development committee, $100.

The board also voted on the Canyon Outstanding Citizen of 1972 during a closed session. Local service clubs and the women's division of the chamber submitted nominations for the annual award. Recipient of the award will be announced and recognized at the annual chamber banquet on Feb. 15.

Superintendent's Contract Renewed By School Board

School Supt. Jerry Jacobs was rehired for another three years Tuesday night after school board members met for three hours behind closed doors discussing his contract renewal.

Dr. Dudley Moore, president of the school board, announced the board's decision Wednesday morning.

Jacobs has been superintendent here since the fall of 1967. He had been at Edna before that.

During regular session Tuesday, board members talked briefly about a city proposal that the central school administrative offices be co-located along with city offices in the city's proposed new city hall complex.

Jacobs told board members he was contacted several weeks ago by City Manager George Loudder, who asked if the school board would consider locating the central administrative offices within the new city hall structure.

Canyon city commissioners Monday night entered into agreement with a Dallas architect firm for the initial phases of planning for the new city hall.

Jacobs said he has told Loudder the school offices would require about 2500 square feet of floor space to operate.

"If we're going to pay for the cost of construction, in my opinion, we'd want to build in some other location than down there," Jacobs said.

He indicated Loudder said a lease agreement might be worked out.

"It's something we need, but in all probability, we have a lot more needs that are more pressing than putting money in a capital outlay for a central administration building," Jacobs said. "That's my opinion."

Board members passed the issue with a final comment from Jacobs that "we have more dire needs than this type project at this time."

The majority of the regular session Tuesday night was taken up with presentations from the school district's physical education instructors on the P.E. program here.

Brotherhood Is Wanted By Tijerina

By JIM SANDS

Reies Tijerina, the controversial Chicano leader who in 1967 attempted to seize public lands in New Mexico and later served a prison term for his efforts, Monday night kicked off Chicano Awareness Week at West Texas State University by calling for nation-wide and world-wide brotherhood.

Speaking to an audience of about 175 persons, the 46-year-old former preacher cited the importance of Spanish speaking people and said they could develop something no one else is promoting or developing — "Brotherhood awareness."

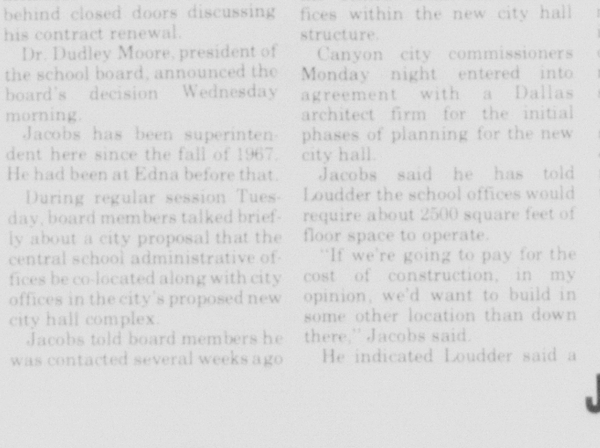

Tijerina said people are breaking through space, the bottom of the ocean, planets and the brain ... but not through the potential of justice.

According to the speaker, justice can be promoted. "It depends on how much people are dedicated ... love and hate can be promoted or demoted ... you can cultivate hate by what you read and see on T.V.," he added.

According to Tijerina, we are living in a complicated age when man can bring about any kind of "explosion" when he wants to. He said we have had a "sex explosion" brought about by books, movies, television and magazines. "There has been no justice explosion," he said.

Because of this lack of justice explosion, Tijerina said, justice to many is only a badge, a gun or the black cloak of a judge. "This is the reason so many people hate

Reies Tijerina, five years ago a militant civil rightist whose followers shot two men in New Mexico, talked brotherhood and justice Monday night before a small crowd on the West Texas State University campus. Tijerina was initial speaker in a series sponsored during Chicano Awareness Week.

Jaycees Make Proposal To City

Controversial Turn Lanes Sought

Canyon's new Jaycees reopened the 23rd Street traffic controversy Monday night when they presented a petition calling for the installation of turn lanes and turn signals on the highway at its intersection with 4th Ave.

The petition, which includes 727 signatures of Canyon residents or West Texas State University students, has been circulated for several months by the Jaycees.

Jaycee President Barry Sanders said his group was unable to circulate the petition in every area of Canyon, "but of the area we did cover 90 per cent of the people did sign it."

Along with the petition, the Jaycees presented a plan, which they said they coordinated with the Texas Highway Department, for implementing left-turn lanes and signals on 23rd Street at the intersection.

"This is not a plan to take away any parking," Sanders stressed.

Three years ago, city commissioners took the initiative in proposing radical reconstruction of turn lanes and signals along the full length of 23rd Street. The proposal at that time would have eliminated parking on 23rd as well as on streets emptying into the main artery.

An election called after weeks of controversy over that proposal ended commissioner's involvement when their system was defeated at the polls.

Sanders said parking would be eliminated under the Jaycees plan only from 4th Ave. north and south along 23rd Street for a half block. He noted that only a few parking spaces along 23rd Street would be involved.

Sanders said the Jaycee plan would allow for a continuous flow of traffic through town on 23rd Street while still allowing for adequate traffic flow across the street on 4th Ave.

No concrete medians are called for in the Jaycee plan.

Sanders said the turn signals and lanes are needed at the intersection due to the large number of traffic accidents which occur at 23rd and 4th.

"Approximately 13 per cent of the accidents in Canyon are at that intersection," he said.

He termed the proposal a "good half-way measure — it doesn't hurt the businessman and will help the accident problem."

Sanders stressed that the plan does not have Texas Highway Department approval. Such approval must come from the highway commission in Austin.

However, he said, Dist. Highway Engineer Chili Smith in Amarillo has said he will submit the plan to the commission if Canyon city commissioners give it their approval.

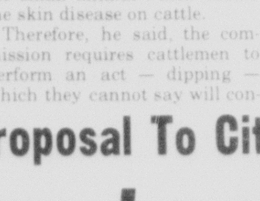

Several businessmen with concerns along 23rd and 4th Avenue attended the commission meeting.

Jim Blake, acting as spokesman for the group, said the Jaycee proposal "sounds good and I think it's one we can live with."

However, Blake asked commissioners to table the request from the Jaycees until the representatives could look over the proposal thoroughly.

Commissioners tabled the request and indicated they will discuss it again at their Feb. 19 meeting.

Eight Locals To Roswell For '60 Meet

Eight representatives from Canyon will travel to Roswell, N.M., Friday afternoon to meet with representatives from other Texas and New Mexico towns in a show of support for the redesignation of U.S. 60 as an interstate highway.

The Canyon representatives will attend a 6 p.m. meeting at the Roswell Inn to discuss the current status of legislation permitting the redesignation.

U.S. Sen. Joe Montoya of New Mexico is expected to attend the meeting and tell of the status of the federal highways act, which includes the provision for redesignation.

Montoya has been a prime mover in having the highway made a part of the federal interstate system from Amarillo to Las Cruces, N.M.

Sens. John Tower and Lloyd Bentsen have been asked to attend the Roswell meeting. Bentsen currently serves on the committee which handles highway legislation.

Canyon and Randall County representatives met with New Mexico city representatives early last fall in Hereford to discuss the proposed redesignation.

At that time, Dist. Highway Engineer Chili Smith said if the highway were redesignated an interstate it would have to be brought up to interstate standards. He speculated the highway would probably follow its current route through Canyon to the north.

Local Boys Win At Fort Worth

The Canyon F.F.A. Chapter walked off with top honors at the Fort Worth Livestock Show & Exposition last week, winning the Grand Championship, the Reserve Championship and three Breed Championships in barrow competition.

The champion barrow, owned by Neil and Del Ray James and shown by Pat Trammell, rooted its way into the overall top spot by nosing out more than 1,000 entries from the three-state area of Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

The overall Reserve Championship was won by Canyon's Wade Wilhelm with his Poland-China entry.

Trammell won the other breed championship with a James-owned Crossbreed.

Neil James, a post-graduate member of the Canyon F.F.A., was unable to attend the show and Trammell, one of the group's more talented showmen, was chosen to present the animal to the judges.

"This was a real accomplishment for us," said sponsor-instructor Jim Walker. "As far as we can tell this is the first time for one F.F.A. chapter to have three breed champions in a major show and the grand champion and reserve champion in junior shows."

In addition to the James-Trammell breed championship, Wade Wilhelm and his Poland-China entry won the breed championship in that class, and also took the reserve championship of all classes. The third breed championship went to a James-owned Crossbreed shown by Trammell.

In steer competition, Jim Berry placed 13th with a polled Hereford, and Dale Berry placed 17th with a similar animal.

Showing beef heifers, Rod Hales took second place in the March Class and Rhonda Hales placed fourth in the Late Senior Class. Rod Hales also took ninth place in the March Class of the open show.

In dairy cattle, David Hinders placed second in the Best Three Females Class, fourth in Best Uddered Cow and fifth in Overall Junior Yearling Heifer Class.

Other positions for Canyon F.F.A. entrants were:

Encouraging Signs In WTSU Enrollment

West Texas State University's enrollment may be down again this semester, but Dr. Donald Cates, registrar, believes there are some encouraging signs in the spring enrollment pattern.

Figures from the official 12th class day enrollment summary were released Tuesday by Cates.

Total enrollment at the university dropped by 246 students this spring as compared to the spring of 1972. Total enrollment is 6125 compared to 6371 last spring.

The significant figure in any enrollment report is the full-time student equivalent, the figure the state uses in determining how much funding the university will receive.

Cates said the full-time student equivalent was down by 341 from spring a year ago — from 5361 then to 5020 now.

The various figures compiled through the report point to several encouraging things, Cates said.

One is the significant rise in part-time students, apparently

Carroll Wilson, Canyon News editor, had the story on the $250,000 Moody Foundation grant to West Texas State University on his desk Tuesday night of last week.

The money is to be used in construction of the proposed new Fine Arts Building, of course.

Wilson, against his better judgment, consented to hold the story when he was asked to do so by Jack Donovan, WTSU information director, and John Green, dean of the School of Fine Arts. He was told he would get the break on the story when it could be released.

The story was released on Saturday and The Canyon News got merely an even break with the Amarillo newspaper but it went on television a good 10 hours before our Sunday edition hit the street.

Here at the News we're not complaining. We held the story knowing that as a result we would be scooped on a story we had first.

In the future when people ask us to delay publishing news stories we will point to this incident. Hereafter, we will hold our fire only under the most extenuating circumstances and then only when premature publication would jeopardize public welfare.

We are just now learning what the Korean police action cost us and we will not be able to assess the expense in shattered lives and human suffering resulting from Vietnam for another 10 to 20 years.

Everyone in Canyon should go up to the VA hospital at the end of Bell Avenue and walk through the wards.

When you have done that you'll begin to understand.

Vietnam veterans have little going for them. When I came back from the wars in the middle 1940s there were two voices speaking loud and clear in the interest of the veteran.

The voices of the VFW and the American Legion are muted now. Interest has lagged and it has been something like three years since the local Legion post has held a meeting.

Maybe it's time that both these organizations be rejuvenated and young men from Nam named commanders. The disabled veteran, especially, needs a strong organization to speak for him.

I nominate Wales Madden as next president of West Texas State University.

Having served on the board of regents of Texas University and having served on various committees promoting WTSU, Madden has the background to qualify him. He is an attorney and an astute businessman.

More important he has the leadership qualities the job requires and the trust of the Panhandle at his back. Wales is one of the few men in this area who could run for almost any public office and get the support of his neighbors of both political faiths.

Sure he's too busy to take the job but that's the type of man the job requires. If Wales could spare us even two or three years it could change the course of Panhandle history.

I wonder what would be the reaction if someone were to sponsor a Caucasian awareness week.

As a matter of fact, there is a project of almost that nature under way here in the Panhandle.

Mary Dunn came by to see me the latter part of last week to ask for some publicity on a Fasing Party being held at 7:30 Saturday night at Alamo High School in Amarillo by a group studying German culture.

I plan to attend if at all possible.

The Germans have contributed a great deal to the building of America, you know. It was the Baron Von Steuben who trained Washington's troops at Valley Forge.

Farmer Protests Salary Raises

An Umbarger farmer protested Monday recent salary increases for county employees and certain aspects of the computerization of the county tax office during the regular session of commissioners court.

E. A. Stocker complained that economy in government must start at the lowest layers of government and his protests received an apparent sympathetic audience from commissioners, who said their hands are tied in matters concerning salary hikes.

Stocker said when citizens run for county elective office they are aware of the salary they will receive and charged that it is hardly right for them to vote to increase their salaries once they have taken office.

"You are our hired-hands to put it one way," Stocker said. "If you come in here after the job and receive a wage increase, I can't see where we should agree with it as a people all over the county."

Stocker said when he hires a man for a job on his farm, the man knows the salary before he starts. If he can't work for the salary then he moves on.

He said spending at every level of government "has gotten out of hand."

Stocker also questioned the payment of "$20,000 to West Texas State University to computerize the county tax office.

"How many employees will we be losing after this?" he asked.

"None," said Commissioner John Fulgenzi.

"Why shouldn't we?" Stocker asked.

Fulgenzi returned to Stocker's initial complaints in an attempt to answer his charges about employee salaries.

"I was of the same opinion as you before I got into public office," he said.

He said to keep qualified people in office in government, they must be paid on a comparable scale with private enterprise.

Stocker insisted that today's elected officials knew the salary of the job they were running for before they were elected.

He said the tax base of both Randall and Potter counties, which he said lies in the farming community, is slowly being eroded and soon farmers will not be able to pay more taxes.

After several minutes of discussion, Stocker turned to another point and questioned commissioners on why a portion of his land fronting on a paved county road is taxed at a higher rate than a portion of land not fronting on a paved road.

"This half-section is taxed above the other half behind it, but it won't produce one bushel more than the one behind it," he said.

He noted that the land for the road was given by the farmers and now they are taxed because they gave it.

Commissioner Paul Lindsey reminded Stocker that taxes are based on the market value of land, not on its production value.

Commissioners passed a resolution thanking Stocker for appearing.

"If we had more citizens like you who are interested in what's going on, we'd be a whole lot better community," said Commissioner Jim Fletcher.

In other business, Mrs. Audrey Bruse, tax assessor-collector, sought salary increases for three employees in her office. She noted that one employee was seeking a higher paying job, but could be retained if her salary were increased.

Commissioners approved the increases.

Commissioners also discussed the various costs for different methods of road building and repair.

Road Superintendent Joe West presented figures for purchase of new equipment to handle road repair and construction, for purchase of used equipment for the jobs and for hiring professional companies to handle the jobs.

West also warned the commissioners that the legislature may very well pass a state law this year which would bring the county under the controversial Occupational Health and Safety Act (OSHA).

He produced a 33-page list of violations the City of Amarillo found in their shops recently.

County Judge Woody Pond read a letter from Esco Elevator asking for a two-month period to examine the elevator in the new portion of the courthouse to determine where and why it's leaking at the rate of 3 gallons per month of oil.

Commissioners okayed the delay.

News Brief

Canyon Junior High's girls' white teams had good and bad times with teams from Friona Monday night in action there.

In 7th Grade white action, the girls lost 35-34 to Friona in overtime. Susan Wilbur was high-point scorer with 16 followed by Belinda Williams with 15.

The 8th grade girls white lost 28-24 to Friona with Vicki Miller hitting a high of 14 points.

The 9th graders won 58-46 with Robena Johnson hitting a high of 50 points.

To Play Muleshoe

Decisive Game Friday For Girls

Because of the possibility that they will be involved in a district championship playoff game with Muleshoe Saturday, the Canyon girl Eagles cancelled their scheduled encounter with Shamrock Tuesday night.

The Eagles, who lost their first district game to Muleshoe, will take part in a rematch Friday night. Should they win and tie district standing at 1-1 for both teams, a playoff game would be played Saturday in the Friona High School gym at 7:30 p.m.

Said coach Bob Schneider, "We expect to win and had to cancel the Shamrock game due to regulations not allowing a team to play three games in one week."

Because the district champion must be certified by the tenth of the month, the playoff game must be played Saturday, the coach added.

The Canyon girls are defending district and state champions, having won top honors in the state twice during the past four years.

Canyon will take a 26-5 season record into the Muleshoe game Friday night. The Muleshoe sextet has a record of 21-5. In their first encounter of the season on Jan. 19, Muleshoe won on their home court by a score of 58-47 after seeing a 26-26 tie at halftime.

While Kim Killingsworth and Alisha Nelson have been the big scoring guns on the Eagle squad throughout the season, Nelson was held to only two points against Muleshoe in the district opener. Killingsworth racked up 26 points during that loss but was second to Muleshoe's Rejena Hardaway who pumped in a total of 34.

In the district opener, Mendy Sternenberg scored 10 points, Sheryl Gunter 8 and Cheryl Adams 1.

The coach cited guards Judy McBroom, Lynn Davis, Susan Hull and Carla Ratliff for their play in the losing effort.

Coach Schneider is banking on experience gained by his team during recent weeks, and the fact that the game will be on the home court. "We're just glad to get another chance at them," he said following the earlier loss.

In that game, Muleshoe outshot the Eagles from the floor and from the foul line, and Schneider cited a large number of turnovers as being deciding factors.

Now, as the showdown game approaches, Schneider says that he hopes his team has a better mental attitude and will not suffer from their earlier experience at Muleshoe. "We need to win," he said. "They (Muleshoe) beat us over there but I felt that we had the best ball club," the coach said at midweek.

The coach said he planned to play Muleshoe in the same manner as the team has been playing all season. "We've tried to polish up our offense and defense and work on the fundamentals."

All year coach Schneider has been high in his praise of the entire team and he recently cited them for their hustle, spirit, and team effort. Following most of the team's games, the coach has credited his guards with exceptional play and this week said it was this recent team effort that caused him to be confident of beating Muleshoe Friday night.

WT Joins Center For Library Research

A vast reservoir of research materials, including more than three million volumes and 7,000 current journals, is open to West Texas State University students and faculty through the Center for Research Libraries.

WTSU is now an institutional associate member of the Chicago-based center, becoming the third Texas University affiliated with the organization. The others are Texas A&M and Southwest Texas State.

The center, founded in 1949 as a non-profit corporation, has been described as a "libraries' library" of those books, periodicals, archives and other materials consulted infrequently enough that their use can be shared by many libraries.

By sharing in the cost of collecting and maintaining materials, these institutions can have access to a far larger collection for research than any of them individually could afford, said Frank Blackburn, WTSU librarian.

The center's present collections, amounting to more than three million volumes, are growing at the rate of several hundred thousand volumes a year, Blackburn said. These include materials acquired by purchase, exchange, or gift, as well as through member libraries.

The center also will acquire or lend any accessible title needed for present research that it does not already have. These categories include foreign doctoral dissertations, microfilms of U.S. or foreign newspaper files, and microfilm of the U.S. or foreign archives, private and public.

Any material owned by the center can be borrowed by a member library for research use by its readers on the same basis as if it were the library's own material, Blackburn said.

Since the materials are intended for research use only, they may not be assigned to reserve book reading rooms for class use. Materials can be kept for as long as needed, and when borrowed from the center can be available within three or four days.

Requests for center materials should be made through the WTSU Library's Interlibrary Loan Department, Blackburn said.

Among the collection materials are current scientific journals, U.S. state documents, non-depository U.S. government publications, foreign government documents, foreign bank publications, publications of the Academy of Sciences of the U.S.S.R., materials in microform, newspapers, war crime trials, foreign radio broadcasts, and CCC Camp newspapers.

Also, college catalogues, court briefs and records, government intelligence agency reports, popular magazines and comic books, railroad reports, textbooks, children's books, U.S. war labor board records and general collections.

WT's Kappa Delta Activated On Campus

Installation ceremonies for 21 pledges and 11 honor initiates on Saturday afternoon at the Episcopal University Center marked the activation of Kappy Delta national social sorority on the campus of West Texas State University.

The initiation ceremony was immediately followed by a banquet at Tascosa Country Club, with Mrs. John Meisner of Englewood, Colo., national president, giving the main address. Dr. Ray A. Malzahn, academic vice president of WTSU, and Miss Mary Lou Farnum, assistant dean of women, also spoke.

National and province officers present for the installation included Mrs. Kenneth Gallagher of Stillwater, Okla., national vice president; Miss Sue Irion of Ottowa, Ill., national collegiate advisor; and Mrs. Dick Crill of Lubbock, province president.

The new active chapter's president is Miss Terri Donovan, WTSU junior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Donovan, 2604 9th Ave. Other new actives are Mlles. Jennifer Wilcoxson, Janet Burt, Vicki Summers, Karen Mailea, Kathy Ledbetter, Patti Holtzclaw, Cheryl Patterson, Shirley Vann, Linda Tomlinson, Rene Harwood, Alice Laub, Jill Rogers, Gay Heil, Kay Kirkendall, Janet Miller, Charlene Weaver, Debbie Futch, Linda Merrill, Dell Sealy and Cindy McLane.

The honor initiates include Mrs. A.R. Jacob, Mrs. George Loudder, Mrs. Dave Corley, Mrs. John O'Connor, Mrs. Pat Stephens, Mrs. Jack Donovan, and Miss Karen Fisher, all of Canyon.

Among women in official positions are Mrs. Allan Carleton of Canyon, chairman-elect of the Advisory Board, and Mrs. Bob McCasland of Happy, pledge trainer.

At the banquet it was announced that an annual scholarship will be established in memory of Miss Pat Wieck, former pledge, now deceased. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L.J. Wieck, of Umbarger.

A reception was held Sunday afternoon in the Activities Center ballroom on campus for national officers, initiates, and guests from chapters throughout Texas.

WTSU Dairy Best In State

West Texas State University's dairy was recently recognized by the Texas Federation of Dairy Herd Improvement Association, Inc. for having the highest producing institutional dairy in the state.

It is the third consecutive year WTSU has had the leading lifetime producer in the state and the 10th consecutive year the university has been the leading institutional dairy.

The dairy has the highest producing cow of all breeds in the state in terms of life-time pounds of milk-fat produced.

Tracksters To Host Arlington

West Texas State University's Buffalo track team will host the University of Texas at Arlington at 7 p.m. Saturday in the Activities Center, minus four regular team members.

Sprinter Tracy Dickson will compete Saturday in an invitational 100-yard dash at the Astrodome Relays in Houston. Cecil Hood, who high-jumped 6-8 last week, will be out of town on personal business in Columbus, Ga.

Two other Buffaloes - jumper Mike Hodges and Dennis Briggs - will miss the meet because of injuries. Hodges has an injured knee and Briggs has a pulled shoulder muscle.

The Buffaloes were edged, 73-62, Saturday by the strong Oklahoma State Aggies.

In Arlington's Mavericks the Buffaloes will be facing a strong team. The Mavericks of coach Tom Boone have several strong sprinters and quarter-milers.

Among the top sprinters are Rodney Love and Mike Cox. The mile relay team of Cox, Rick Stone, Rickey Abeyta and Paul Acker will be tough competition for the Buffaloes.

Arlington vaulter Jerry Reese should have a good match with Warren Snow of West Texas. Reese has cleared 14-6, while Snow has a best of 15-0.

The top Buffalo athlete will be Carl Brown, who zipped to a pair of wins last week in the hurdle events. He ran 7.3 in the 60-yard high hurdles to win and captured the 50-yard intermediates in 6.1. Brown, who was recently named the Panhandle area's top athlete of 1972 by the Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame, is a two-time double winner in the Missouri Valley Conference indoor hurdle events.

Other top Buffalo entries are high jumper Gary Six, shot putter Marvin Self, miler Jim Hogan, sprinter Lee Lewis, jumpers Jim Childers and George Fuller and quarter-miler Jesse Lethridge. Half-miler Gary Keim is rounding into top indoor running form.

Advance tickets for the meet are on sale in Amarillo at Vance Hall and Buck's sporting goods stores and in Canyon at the West Texas State ticket office and the First National Bank of Canyon.

Advance tickets are $1.50 for adults and $.50 for children. Tickets purchased at the door Saturday night are $2 for adults and $1 for children.

Cowboys Fall To Cotton Center

The Happy Cowboys, in a makeup game reset from earlier in the season, lost to Cotton Center Tuesday night by a score of 75-49.

The Happy five led at the end of the first quarter, 12-11, but the second half proved fatal to their victory hopes. Coach Gerald Weeks said several consecutive turnovers resulted in second-quarter scores for Cotton Center and his boys were never able to catch up.

"I guess we went to sleep," Weeks said.

At the half, Cotton Center was out in front 33-18, and after three periods of play were leading 49-32.

Johnny Payne led Happy with 26 points. He was followed by Greg Looney with 8, Chris Pearson with 6, Tim McNeill with 5, and by Don Lee and Gary Garrett with 2 each.

Two starters, Lonnie and Stuart Tackitt, were unable to play Tuesday night because of injured knees received last weekend in a motorcycle crash. Said coach Weeks, "It's tough when you have one starter out. It's really bad when you are missing two."

Maurice Applewhite led Cotton Center with 22 points.

The Cowboys, standing third in the district behind Cotton Center and Spade, will play Nazareth at home Friday night and will then host the district tournament on Feb. 15, 16 and 17.

The Cowgirls have ended their regular season and there is no district tournament in girls basketball.

Women's Groups To Be Combined

The Women's Society of Christian Service and the Wesleyan Service Guild of the First United Methodist Church will join together in a "Day of Celebration" on Feb. 13, at 11 a.m., in the church parlor.

The program, "Sing Unto the Lord a New Song," will be presented by the Juanelva Rose Circle. Special guests on the program will include Mrs. Grace Warwick, speaking on the past history of the Women's Society of Christian Service, and Mrs. Rae Walters, on the past history of the Wesleyan Service Guild.

Officers of the newly formed women's group, to be called United Methodist Women, will be elected, and a salad luncheon will follow the fellowship hall. All the women of the church are invited for the program and luncheon.

City Couples Attend Meet

Two Canyon couples represented the Randall County Farm Bureau recently at the state legislative conference in Austin.

Attending from the county were Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Schaeffer and Mr. and Mrs. Cristler Crain.

Purpose of the conference was to discuss major issues confronting the 63rd Legislature and plan ways of implementing the Farm Bureau's policies relating to those issues.

Enrollment . . .

spurred to attend WTSU by board of regents action last fall to reduce fees for part-timers.

Another is the significant rise in beginning students for the spring term.

Cates noted that 1041 students began work at the university this spring who were not enrolled in the university the fall term.

The percentage of decrease for the spring term from the fall term is less than the percent of decrease from spring to fall last year.

The percent of decrease in head-count figures from the fall 1971 to fall 1972 terms was 10.6 per cent. The per cent of decrease from spring 1972 to spring 1973 was 3.8 per cent. The percent of decrease from fall 1972 to spring 1973 was 6.9 percent and the percent of decrease from fall 1971 to spring 1972 was 13.3 percent.

Cates said the university administration, faculty and staff are totally dedicated to establishing conditions at the university which are conducive to providing a good education. In addition, he noted that efforts continue to attract students to the campus.

Freshman enrollment at the university dropped when compared to last spring by 228 — from 1714 to 1486. Sophomore enrollment dropped 164 from 1197 to 1033, junior enrollment dropped 87 from 1311 to 1224, senior enrollment went up 56 from 1339 to 1395 and graduate student enrollment also increased 177 from 810 to 987.

An increase of 245 part-time students was noted over last spring — up from 1505 to 1750. Full-time student enrollment was down 391.

justice, he said.

As an example, Tijerina told the group, "You can have sex without love, but not love without sex. You can have law and order without justice but not justice without law and order."

He said he was excited about the role the Chicano, as a breech between the North and South Americas, can play in promoting brotherhood. "We can inspire brotherhood awareness. The black man can't because he has been oppressed too long," Tijerina claimed.

According to Tijerina, the so-called Chicanos of this country are not Spanish. "We are offspring of the Indian and the Spaniard. "The people are really an infant," he said of the history of the Chicano people.

The speaker related several ways in which he had been made aware of many everyday, simple things and then cited the great strides man has made in getting closer together. "We have reached a new level of intelligence," he said of the recent formation of the World Council of Churches; cooperation between scientists of the east and west portions of the world; the more equal rights of men and women and the closing of the gap between the rich and the poor.

He also noted changes in political attitudes among nations and government leaders which have occurred during the past 25 years. These changes, said Tijerina, were not due to who was in office but rather were brought about by "pressure from the people."

Said Tijerina, "That's why I believe the Chicano has a special role . . . we are ready to help." The speaker also said it was time for the American citizen to start thinking about brotherhood awareness.

Tijerina told of an "Awareness Week" held in New Mexico when a variety of religions, nationalities and law enforcement agencies took part. "What we need is a National Brotherhood Awareness Day, just like Mother's Day and Father's Day," he said, claiming that a brotherhood day was more important because "there is not as much trouble between mothers and fathers."

Tijerina told the group, "It's up to us. We can bring about an awareness or justice explosion . . . we must appropriate money and energy."

The speaker's tongue-in-cheek humor brought ripples of laughter from the mixed crowd on several occasions. Once was when he said Brotherhood Awareness Day might be celebrated by everyone doing something for someone else. As examples, he said the governor might pardon one prisoner of each nationality, a sheriff might release one and a doctor might not charge one patient on that day. "Pretty soon people will be waiting for that brotherhood day," he said.

Following the 45-minute talk and during a short question-answer session, Tijerina said "The Alliance," which he headed when arrested in 1967, was still organized. When asked if he intended to again become active in the organization, Tijerina said, "I am active."

In response to another question, Tijerina declined to describe himself as any particular type or with any particular tag or nickname. "In reality, the Spanish speaking bi-lingual people haven't earned what they will be called. It is irrelevant to me," he concluded.

During the early part of his talk, Tijerina said that he had picked cotton in Canyon in 1958. He said he had returned earlier in the day to visit the place where he had lived at the time and had been surprised to see that the run-down house still stood. "I took pictures," he said.

The speaker told of once spending the night in the jail in Manhattan, Kans., when he was a traveling preacher. He said he had asked to stay in the jail because he had nowhere else to stay. "I'm having a good time," he said. "I like going back to places under different circumstances."

He said he was scheduled to speak at the University of Kansas in Manhattan, in addition to several other colleges and institutions.

On Tuesday night, also at the WTSU activities center ballroom, the Rev. Antonio Gonzales of Lubbock addressed about 100 persons.

The speaker cited several problems faced by the Chicano in this country, elaborating on difficulties encountered by children speaking both English and Spanish.

According to Rev. Gonzales, children in American elementary schools are scolded on campus for speaking their native tongue. He said this caused some Chicanos to have to later in college pay to learn a language they should have learned as children.

The speaker added that the names of Chicano children are "prostituted" when they are pronounced to fit the Anglo system.

If Rev. Gonzales lashed out at any one thing, it was the "studies and programs" aimed at helping the plight of the minority groups. According to him, these studies and programs most often help only those doing the studying.

Of such studies and programs, the speaker said, "The ones that are successful become best sellers and do the minorities no good. They are published and then put to rest . . . may they rest in peace."

Rev. Gonzales also cited birth control as the greatest danger to the Chicano, and he added that because America has become a "melting pot," if suffers from lack of tradition. He advised the Chicano to "stay out of the melting pot."

According to Rev. Gonzales, the Chicano must either "get out of the system" and fight it, or he must stay and help make it better. He said to fight it would be disastrous. "Look at the black militants. They've hurt more than they helped."

Gonzales also noted that the first night's speaker, Reies Tijerina, had softened in his activities and was now taking a much less militant stand.

Like Tijerina, Rev. Gonzales told the group of the Chicano's importance to the world, especially in the maintaining of tradition.

In a question-answer period following the short talk, Rev. Gonzales said he was not advocating that Chicanos stay in poverty rather than be swallowed up by the Anglo system. He also told one member of the audience that he did not feel that large families caused poverty. He said he was not recommending families of 20 or 30 "but not just two or three either."

In response to another question, Rev. Gonzales said he was not against Chicano children learning English, but was in favor of them learning both English and Spanish.

One member of the audience said that many Chicano students were so used to having their names mutilated that they felt "uneasy when it was pronounced correctly."

Chicano Awareness Week will continue on campus throughout the week with other speakers to include the Rev. Jacinto Alderete of Amarillo, Gilbert Chavez, director of the Office for Spanish speaking American Affairs in Washington, and Zeke Rodriguez, acting deputy director for programs and training for ACTION, Region VI.

Jesse Vasquez, a member of the steering committee putting on the week-long program, said the purpose of the program was to promote better relations among the various nationalities on campus and to make everyone more aware of the Chicano, his history and his place in the future of the country and world.

The Rev. Mr. Alderete will speak on "Chicano Influence in the Panhandle," at 8 p.m. today in the student union ballroom. Also performing tonight will be the Wesley Community Childrens Choir, composed of Chicanos, Blacks, Anglos and Indians.

Rodriguez will speak at 8 p.m. Friday in the Activities center ballroom.

Chicano Awareness Week will be brought to a close Saturday night with a play, dance and banquet. El Teatro de los Pobres from the University of Texas at El Paso will appear in a play at 2 p.m. Saturday in the fine arts building.

Chavez will be keynote speaker during the banquet which begins at 6 p.m. Saturday in the university cafeteria.

Following the banquet will be a dance in the activities center ballroom.

Canyon's four schools noted that they are generally pleased with the operation of their physical education programs.

Each listed, however, several needs which must be solved to ensure full participation in the programs.

Specifically, the teachers say they need equipment—gymnastic equipment, tumbling equipment and possibly playground equipment.

Space was cited as a particular problem in each school in terms of storage and at the high school in terms of room for students to dress and undress.

Mrs. Peggy Smith, who teaches at Canyon Junior High, was perhaps the most outspoken in her expression of the needs of that school for equipment.

Prefacing her remarks with the statement that she has been a girls basketball coach, Mrs. Smith said students in physical education classes are getting less money and support than the few students who participate in formal athletics.

"We're spending a good amount of money in athletics," she said, "and about a thousand dollars a year for P.E. in the high school and junior high."

She criticized the spending of large sums of money on girls basketball, for example, when more money could be spent in girls P.E. to enrich the lives of a greater number of participants.

"I'm not cutting down these (the athletics) programs, but we need to provide for this other group of students who make up more than half of the student body," she said.

School board members took no action on the requests for equipment and space but indicated they would pursue the problem.

In the lamb division, Jehu Isaacs and Mike Kelly did not place in the top 40 positions.

According to instructor Walker, the honors gained at the Fort Worth show were the result of a lot of hard work on the parts of a lot of people. "We've been knocking at the door for several years and we finally made it," he said.

In previous years, the Canyon chapter has managed to pick up breed championships from time to time but this year put them all together and walked away with a major share of the honors, said Walker.

In addition to Walker, the entrants were accompanied by agriculture instructor Robert Wink, young area farmer Richard Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Berry, Mr. and Mrs. Richmond Hales, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hinders.

Chamber . . .

The board also voted to initiate a new annual award, for Hustler of the Year, to be presented the person who has done the most through investment of his time and effort in supporting Canyon and the chamber. The new award will also be presented at the chamber banquet.

A report on ticket sales for the banquet, which this year features guest speaker Keith Jackson, ABC sportscaster, revealed that 161 tickets have been sold. Joe Gidden and Troy Martin lead ticket sales with 50 each.

Ken Thompson, Canyon merchant, told the board that the newly organized merchants committee of the chamber plans to publish a shopper's guide for Canyon. The booklet, he said, would be entitled "Discover Canyon" and would have alphabetical and classified-type listings for all businesses in the city. Thompson said the booklets will be distributed through service stations, supermarkets and in newcomers' packets.

Childs, membership chairman, reported that 26 new individual and eight new firm memberships have been gained. Total dues from these memberships is $1169.

Board members also heard a proposal from the Trap and Trail Riders Club of Amarillo that their Fall National Enduro Motorcycle Races be held in the Canyon area. The race would be a cross-country affair with between 600 and 1000 riders involved. A committee was appointed to study the proposal.

In other business, commissioners approved a letter contract with Henningson, Durham & Richardson of Dallas for a preliminary feasibility study and planning for a new city hall complex.

Bob Hogan, vice president of the Dallas architectural and engineering firm, appeared before the commission to present the contract.

It was noted that the initial planning stages of the job will cost the city not less than $6000 and not more than $9000. If the commissioners decide to build a new complex based on the Dallas firm's planning, the fee would be included in total architect fees.

Hogan indicated the initial planning and feasibility study would consume about 90 days. He said plans could be drawn from that point in a time period of between six and eight months.

Commissioners agreed to fund the initial fee from a reserve fund rather than dipping into federal revenue sharing money the city has received.

In final action, the commission discussed the possibility of holding an election to amend the city charter so that agreement between the city and Pioneer Natural Gas Co. can be reached on the gas company's franchise.

The city and company have been haggling for months over wording in their franchise agreement.

City Manager George Loudder recommended Monday night that the city call for an amendment to that portion of the charter which pertains to the city taking over franchised facilities.

The amendment would allow the city and company to reach agreement on the franchise.

All-State Music Group Playing In San Antonio

Eight Canyon High School music students named recently to the All-State Band, All-State Choir and All-State Orchestra, are in San Antonio taking part in the Texas Educator's Music Association conference.

The gathering began today and ends Saturday.

Band members attending are Brad Garner, Teddi Crager, Vern Zimmerman, Sharon Lumry and Doug Rittenberry. Representing the CHS Choir are Kelly Forehand and Lauran Fulton, and with the orchestra is Nancy King.

Accompanying the students are choir director Tom Jennings, band director J.W. King, and assistant band director Gary Laramore.

According to school officials, the group from Canyon is extremely large compared to other area schools which were able to place only one or two students on the various All-State groups.

Amarillo placed only one in band competition and few schools, other than Canyon, placed more than one member on any of the groups.

These members of the Canyon High School Band are taking part in the Texas Music Educator's Association conference in San Antonio this week. They are, front row, Sharon Lumry, Nancy King and Teddi Crager and, back row, Brad Garner, Doug Rittenberry and Vern Zimmerman. Miss King is a member of the All-State Orchestra and the others are members of the All-State Band.

IRS Number Is Changed

The Internal Revenue Service has increased the number of telephone lines available for federal tax information and assistance to better serve the public.

The number listed in the telephone directory for information and assistance had to be changed to permit installation of additional service.

The new number for tax information and assistance is 372-8576.

Kelly Forehand and Lauran Fulton of the Canyon High School Choir will take part in the Texas Music Educator's Association conference in San Antonio this weekend. Both were selected to the All-State Choir in recent competition.

Buffs On Road Against WSU

West Texas State University's Buff iloes hit the rugged Missouri Valley Conference road for a pair of games this week.

The Buffalo cagers face Wichita State's Shockers today in Wichita, Kan., and the Drake Bulldogs Saturday night in Des Moines, Ia.

The Wichita and Drake games are the first of four straight road games to be played by coach Dennis Walling's Buffaloes. They face the University of Texas at Arlington Feb. 15 and then take on MVC foe Memphis State before returning home. The Memphis State game will be Feb. 17.

West Texas isn't home again in the Amarillo Civic Center Coliseum until Feb. 22 when it faces Louisville. Tulsa plays in Amarillo Feb. 24 and the Buffs host New Mexico State Feb. 27 before closing the season Mar. 3 at New Mexico State.

The Buffaloes suffered a bitter defeat Monday night in Amarillo to the North Texas State Eagles. The Buffaloes led 51-41 with 6:53 to play and then didn't score again until North Texas State had the game out of reach with seconds to play. Tommy Jordan, the Buffs' leading scorer in the contest with 18 points, tallied with four seconds showing on the clock to cut the final margin to two points, 55-53.

West Texas split even with these week's opponents in earlier games in Amarillo. The Buffaloes defeated Wichita State, 82-75, and fell to Drake, 91-79. West Texas and Wichita State are even for the season at 1-1 as the Shockers took an 88-82 win in the Bluebonnet Bowl Classic at Houston.

Walling will probably start Jordan and Brent Lake at guards against Wichita State, Hector Rodriguez at center and Jerry Christian and Scott Doores at forwards.

BE SURE TO watch Randy Carver tonight at 7:00 on "The Waltons" on Channel 10. He will play the part of Monty. Randy is a graduate of Hereford High School and West Texas State. After serving in the Army, Randy sought a movie and television career. Steve and I haven't seen Randy for almost two years, but he had already appeared in the movie, "Midnight Cowboy." He has been working steadily in films and television. Let's all watch him tonight.

MY SEVEN-YEAR-old son, Brett, escorted me to the talent show, "Carrousel of Stars" Saturday night. John Brandon was an excellent master of ceremonies for the show, which was presented by the Heritage Woman's Club. John sang several songs and although he had some problems with the microphone, his beautiful voice could not be hindered. Linda Adams, a former Miss W.T.S.U., also sang several lovely tunes.

The first division (grades 1-4) winners were: First—Tara Tankersley, baton solo; Second—Meg Reeves, ballet solo; and Third—Darla Campbell, a cute rendition of "Tiny Bubbles," accompanied by Kelli Campbell on the ukelele.

The second division (grades 5-7) winners were: First—Tawny Henderson and Becky Jo Lindsey in a beautiful ballet number; Second—The Unknowns, a band including Larry Brown, April Howard, Treca Cooper, Terry Miller, Kevin Dozier and Tanya Stallings; Third—Ann Reeves, a ballet number.

The third division (grades 8-12) winners: First—Doug Palmer, a drum solo; Second—Buddie and Janie Townsend, trick roping; and Third—Nina Nance, modern dance routine.

Doug Palmer received quite an ovation when his win was announced. The judges, Royal L. Brantley, Deltah Roberts and Dr. Hugh Sanders, must have had a difficult time deciding, there was an abundance of talent in the show. The winners were all deserving, but I would like to acknowledge a few Hines Honorable Mentions: Fred Thomas and Dick Funk (Division Two) for a guitar duet, Khristi White (Division One) piano solo, and Kevin Dozier (Division Two) for his drum solo.

WHILE I AM congratulating, I must also congratulate Rosemary and Deputy Crossland on the birth of their eight children. Amazing, isn't it? Actually Rosemary and Deputy are the German Shepard dogs of the A.L. Crosslands. My children felt this was quite an occasion, not to go unheralded.

Actually dogs are important in our lives. I met John Wooten the other night at a shower at his home. John, the brown poodle belonging to Dr. and Mrs. W.J. Wooten, Jr., was the life of the party. Is my column going to the dogs? I couldn't resist that obnoxious pun.

Anniversary Dance Has Rainbow Theme

By REBA RAEF

HELLO, AGAIN, FROM Umbarger. Our congratulations to the Pistols and Petticoats Square Dance Club. They really know how to give a party. They held their second anniversary dance Sunday evening, in St. Mary's parish hall. Using "Over the Rainbow," as the theme, the hall was beautifully decorated. A large rainbow spanned one end of the hall, with the "Pot of Gold" at the rainbows' end. Umbrellas in pastel hues were used on the walls, and blue balloons were upon the ceiling.

THE CLUB SWEETHEART, Susan Lindemann and her escort, Keith Rickwartz, led the Grand March. Monsignor M.F. Schafle, our pastor, congratulated the club on their good example in family fun, and asked God to bless the group in their future endeavors. The club Sweetheart was presented with a corsage, and the dancing began. Herrick Allen, caller for the Pistols and Petticoats Club, who was plagued with laryngitis, shared calling honors with Roger Thompson, caller for the Dumas Hoedowners; Bruce Farmer, who calls for the Huffs and Puffs, from Amarillo; Tom Alderich, caller for Ye Olde Squares, Amarillo; Audrey Brown, who calls for the High Plains Promenaders, from Amarillo; and Stuart Rowan, caller for the Merry Mixers, from Hereford.

ON THE PROGRAM, presented at intermission, was a square dance done as they were done in 1940, and called by Carl Simons. The junior high boys and girls presented a clog dance, patterned after the Promenaders, who dance on the Grand Ole Opry show. Closing the program was a take off on sports casting, with Paul Ferguson interviewing Willie Wieck.

SEVERAL DOOR PRIZES were awarded during the evening. Refreshments of ham and cheese sandwiches, rainbow colored cake, coffee and tea and hot chocolate were served. There were 275 attending, with 12 clubs represented.

AIRMAN 1ST CLASS Charles Stocker, is visiting with his parents, the E. A. Stockers. Charlie is enroute to Ft. Meade, Maryland. He has been stationed at Goodfellow Air Force Base, in San Angelo, Tex. We hope that you enjoy that part of the country, Charlie.

MR. AND MRS. Leo Arko and son, from Eagle Nest, N.M., visited with relatives during the past week. They were dinner guests of the Max Hoffmans and also visited with the La Dean Adams, Darroll Adams and the Carroll Adams families. The E. A. Stockers were hosts for a supper for the Arkos. Other guests in the Stocker home were the Bill Stockers and daughter, from Canyon, and the Max Hoffmans. The Arkos also visited the Carl Klueskens, in Hereford. Mrs. Arko will be remembered as Lorine Stocker.

PAUL AND LINDA Harris were hosts for a dinner party Saturday evening at their home south of Umbarger. Guests were Vincent and Gladys Meyer and children; Larry and Rita Wynn and Christi; Milton and Darlene Suthers and sons; Bernard and Barbara Hartman and children, all from Umbarger, and Lewis and Charlene Blaylock, from Canyon. After supper, the group enjoyed games and cards.

THE UMBARGER 4-H Club went on a guided tour of the Buffalo Lake Wildlife Refuge, last week. Milton Suthers, who conducted the tour, told of the work done by the Rangers, how they band birds, and why they are banded. There were 23 club members on the tour, with Darlene Suthers, Mary Adams and Barbara Hartman as sponsors. After the tour, the group stopped at one of the picnic units at the lake and enjoyed cokes.

WE DROVE OVER to St. Francis Sunday for their annual German Sausage dinner, and did we ever enjoy visiting with old friends. Among those from Umbarger that we saw were the Charles Beckmans, W. P. Janssens, Vincent J. Meyers, L. J. Wiecks, Barbara Hartman and children, the R. E. Friemels, Conrod Westhoffs, Henry Skypala, Frances Grotegut and Alice Koch.

PAUL FERGUSON, MANAGER of Buffalo Lake reports that there were a lot of people at the lake on Sunday. He said there were a number of boats and quite a few picnickers out taking advantage of the fine weather. We plan to do a little fishing down there ourselves, as soon as the lake is open for fishing.

LAST WEEK, WE reported that Willie and Mildred Wieck were moving to Dalhart. Well, would you believe they moved all right, but to Dumas, not Dalhart. Sorry about that, kids.

CONGRATULATIONS TO MARION and Suzy Hicks, who will celebrate their 7th wedding anniversary on Friday, Feb. 9.

Teacher Education System, Attacked Here, Now Under Fire Downstate

Worry first voiced here last fall concerning the advisability of implementing a state-wide competency-based teacher education curriculum for senior colleges has spread throughout the state.

Last weekend, the house of delegates of the Texas Association of College Teachers passed a resolution calling for a suspension of further implementation of the system for at least 18 months, according to two West Texas State University professors who attended the meeting.

Hollice Snyder, associate professor of business administration, represented WTSU along with George Ritter and Travis McBride of the government department at the meeting in Austin.

The competency-based teacher education system, which gained legislative approval for implementation last summer, came under heavy fire from professors in the College of Arts and Sciences at WTSU last fall when they met with Dr. Emmitt Smith, a proponent of the system.

The system was scheduled to go into effect Sept. 1, 1972.

WTSU professors opposed the system in the fall, charging, among other things, that it might constitute a breach of academic freedom.

The TACT resolution passed last weekend expresses similar concerns.

The resolution notes that college teachers and administrators throughout the state are concerned that the system might pose a potential challenge to the autonomy of each institution and that the system might infringe on the freedom of the "specialist to determine course content and the teaching method appropriate to his discipline."

Through its resolution, the TACT expresses its concern over any action by a state agency which could infringe on that academic autonomy. It calls for a re-examination of the standards of the system. It also calls for immediate review of the system by representatives of all academic disciplines with a view to modify and clarify the new standards of the system.

Snyder said TACT delegates last weekend were particularly concerned when they learned that the head of the Texas Education Agency, responsible for the system, is himself unsure of the advisability of such a system.

Dumas Center Signs With WT

Gary Trosper, a second team all-state center for Dumas High School, has signed to play football at West Texas State University.

Trosper signed a Missouri Valley Conference pre-enrollment application with the Buffaloes.

A two-year letterman for the Dumas Demons of coach Bill Spann, Trosper was All-District 1-AAA and second team Class AAA all-state this past season.

The 6-2, 205-pounder also played as a regular defensive tackle for the Demons, who reached the state quarter-finals this past fall.

"Gary is an outstanding blocker who fires off the ball," said Spann. "He makes the deep snap better than any high school player I've seen. On defense, he sheds blockers and goes to the ball well. He is extremely quick for his first 10 yards."

Spann said Trosper was one of the more aggressive players to play for the Demons in recent years.

Trosper plans to compete in track this spring as a weight man.

Juniorette Club To Be Organized

The formation of a juniorette club for high school girls in Canyon moved closer to reality after Sunday's meeting at Canyon Community Center with 27 girls showing interest in joining.

The sponsors, Canyon Study Club, appointed a committee of four girls to plan a second meeting for 7:30 p.m., Feb. 13, in the hospitality room of the First National Bank. They are Becky Blewitt, Anna Bland Thompson, Mackie Williams, and Tanya Hunter.

All sophomore and junior girls interested are invited to attend the next meeting. The election of officers will be on the business agenda.

At the Sunday afternoon meeting the activities and goals of the prospective club were explained to the girls by Mrs. James Lundy, Mrs. Don Max Vars, and Mrs. Weyman Brown. A guest speaker was Carolyn Roney, a junior at West Texas State University, who described her experiences as a juniorette club member in El Paso.

The club's purpose will be to introduce girls into community work and at the same time provide a social outlet under sponsorship of Canyon Study Club.

City Woman Gets Degree

Mrs. Ophelia Hoffman of Canyon was among 859 candidates receiving degrees at North Texas State University this winter.

Although no winter commencement is conducted at NTSU, Dec. 19 is the official graduation date for the 636 bachelor's, 195 master's and 28 doctor's degree recipients.

All winter graduates will be invited to join the spring graduating class in formal commencement ceremonies May 19 at the university.

Mrs. Hoffman, a 1968 graduate of Canyon High School, received a master of science degree in mathematics.

Ballerina Ann Reeves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Reeves, garnered third place in Division II, of the Carrousel of Stars Talent Show held Saturday night at the Canyon Junior High School auditorium.

500 Applaud Talent Performers

An estimated audience of about 500 people turned out to cheer a parade of competing school-age performers at the Carrousel of Stars Talent Show staged Saturday night in the Canyon Junior High School auditorium by Heritage Woman's Club.

Top winner of a $50 bond in Division I, grades 1-4, was Tara Tankersley with a baton solo. In Division II, grades 5-7, the first-place award was captured by Tawny Henderson and Becky Jo Lindsey performing a ballet duo. Doug Palmer won first place in Division III, grades 8-12, with a drum solo. The three $50 bonds were donated by First National Bank, West Texas State Bank and jointly by Shell's Pharmacy and Jess Ford Co.

Second place prizes of $10 were won in Division I by Meg Reeves with a ballet solo; in Division II by "The Unknowns," a band made up of April Howard, Tanya Stallings, Traca Cooper, Larry Brown, Terry Miller, and Kevin Dozier; and in Division III by Buddy and Janie Townsend performing a rope act. Their prizes were donated by Ideal Food Stores, Southwest Public Service Co., and Draughon's Business College.

Winning third place awards of $5 were, Division I, Darla Campbell, in a vocal solo accompanied by Kelli Campbell on ukelele; Division II, Ann Reeves, ballet solo; and Division III, Nina Nance, modern dance. The cash awards were given by White's Auto Store, Western Auto Store, and Williams, Etc.

Master of ceremonies for the evening was John Brandon, a former Canyon boy and graduate of West Texas State University. He and two beauty titlists, Miss Linda Adams, 1972 Miss WTSU, and Miss Deltah Roberts, 1973 Miss WTSU, provided additional entertainment between acts. A clown act by Marita Crowder, Claudine Lehman, Janie Loudder, and Harriet Brandon, all members of Heritage Woman's Club, was also presented.

Judges for the talent show were Dr. Hugh Sanders, director of choral activities at WTSU, Royal Brantley, director of the WTSU Opera Workshop, and Miss Deltah Roberts.

A spokesman for Heritage Woman's Club estimated that about $400 had been earned from receipts at the Talent Show. The earnings will benefit Neblett Clinic Nursery.

Judges at the Carrousel of Stars Talent Show on Saturday night awarded Doug Palmer, eighth-grade son of Mr. and Mrs. James Palmer, first place in Division III for his impressive performance on the drums.

Gene Howe News

PTA Meeting To Feature Spell Down

By TROYCE MULHERIN

GREETINGS:

TWO GROUPS FROM Gene Howe School were acknowledged winners at the Carrousel of Stars Talent Show held last Saturday evening. We use the term "acknowledged" because these two groups garnered place ratings. The rest of our entrants are winners, too, as far as we are concerned. In the words of Margie Phillips, our youngsters all made a good showing; they projected well; and, most importantly of all, represented Gene Howe and themselves to the nth degree.

THE CAMPBELL GIRLS garnered third place in their grade division. Kelli, a fourth grade student, played the ukelele for sister Darla's rendition of "Tiny Bubbles." The girls wore grass skirts and tossed in some hula-hula dancing to everyone's enjoyment. Darla is a first grade student at Gene Howe. Mrs. Darlene Campbell is the mother of these talented young ladies.

A FIFTH GRADE musical ensemble calling themselves "The Unknowns" brought home second place rating in their grade division. This was a sharp looking group, as well as talented. The girls wore purple dresses with white blouses, and the young men wore white pants and purple shirts. The group performed "The Lion Sleeps Tonight," with Terry Miller on the piano and Kevin Dozier rappin' on the drums. Larry Brown, April Howard, Traca Cooper and Tanya Stallings contributed their fine singing voices to round out this excellent presentation.

A SPECIAL ROUND of applause to these and all the other youngsters who shared of their time and talents—in somebody's words—"You done good!" and we are all very proud of each of you.

FOR DARLENE CAMPBELL, this past week was one to remember. Not only was she treated to watching her darling daughters place in the talent show, she also had the pleasure of spending several days in Acapulco, returning home in time for the show. She and some friends headquartered in a very nice villa and enjoyed every minute of their stay. New faces and new places have a way of engendering renewed enthusiasm. The ladies did a lot of looking; a lot of sun bathing; and, after getting the peso/dollar thing worked out, a lot of shopping. Even took a boat ride on the bay. Lots of fun.

A VERY SPECIAL happy anniversary wish to Guy and Doris Bufkin. The Bufkins owned up to twenty-four years of married life on Sunday, February 4th.

ANOTHER PROUD MOTHER in Gene Howe land is doing some well-founded bragging these days. Wilma Hall, mother of Mary, is quite pleased to announce that Mary was recently initiated into the National Junior Honor Society at Canyon Junior High. Mary is a ninth grade student in Canyon. Mary was home ill when a friend called and informed her of this honor. The good news might have hastened her recovery, 'cause she is back in school and earning this merit. Congratulations, young lady. Mr. Bill Hall is also entitled to some recognition. After all, he is Mary's daddy.

THAT MODERN MATH course being held at Gene Howe has started off with a bang. Lots of eager learners were in attendance at the opening session. Mr. Denny Park is playing the role of fearless instructor with wit and humor. He has actually convinced the more reticent of us that we can and will learn this stuff, and enjoy ourselves and math at the same time. First time out we were introduced to the vocabulary of mod math. Talk about new world's to conquer! Oh, well, Denny said we didn't have to know the words, just what they represented. O.K. Second session students progressed to bigger things, and are going to begin working some problems next time around. Since our PTA meeting falls on Monday night next week, our modern math course has been moved to Tuesday evening. Seven o'clock in the P.E. room at the school. Mr. Park will be there early to help late-comers play catch-up. So, if things haven't worked out that you could come before this, Denny will bring you up to date, if you will come a little early.

WE WISH A very special happy to our fearless teacher of mod math—Denny changed the ordered set depicting his age on Wednesday the 7th.

PTA NIGHT FOR February will be this coming Monday, at seven o'clock. Gene Howe's school elimination will be held with regards to the Spelling Bee. Spell downs have already been conducted in each room, and the four youngsters from each room who managed to emerge victorious will take part in the Spelling Bee Monday night. Students in the fourth through sixth grades take part in this; and, approximately 36 will be vying with each other for the opportunity of taking part in the county spelling bee to be held at the junior high in Canyon. Most of us can't even pronounce, much less spell, some of the words these kiddoes will be facing. Speaking of pronouncing, Mrs. Vondean McGregor will be doing the honors at Gene Howe. Seven youngsters from Gene Howe will meet their peers at the Bee in Canyon. Just for funsies, take pencil and paper with you to the PTA meeting and see how many words you get right!

PRETTY NEW FACE at Gene Howe belongs to our new speech therapist, Mrs. Jimmie Little. Mrs. Little is a widow, and has three children. Jaycile is married and is a teacher in the Spring Branch School District in Houston. Daughter Susan is a seventh grade student at Crockett Junior High in Amarillo. Susan's favorite passion is the piano, and her mommy is prone to brag a bit about her playing. Son Grant is a sixth grade student at Olsen School in Amarillo. Grant is a football fan, and when not tossing the ol' pigskin around, he is tootling around with his motorcycle.

IN HER SPARE time, what little there is of it, Jimmie likes to refinish furniture, and always has some type of redecorating project under way at the homefront. She takes a great deal of interest in her children's activities, and they obligingly manage to keep her happily busy. The family loves to travel, and in the summer time spend the biggest part of their time doing just that. When each and every opportunity arises to do some water skiing or snow skiing, the Littles take immediate advantage. All you bridge players take note—Jimmie is one of you, and plays whenever she gets the chance.

GENE HOWE IS Jimmie's first assignment, and she is quite pleased with our school and the opportunity to help our youngsters. She plans on going to work on her Masters this fall.

WHEN MARILYN MAYNARD, our retired speech therapist, introduced Mrs. Jimmie Little, she jokingly remarked that she was tempted to call her "Johnnie Small." Guess who remembered "Johnnie Small" and not "Jimmie Little."

Anyway, if you should do likewise, don't fret, because this new addition to our ranks possesses a friendly sense of humor. Just to mention one of her many fine traits. Glad to have you aboard, Jimmie.

PACK 130 CUB Scouts recently held a Pinewood Derby Meet at the school. This is a biannual event much anticipated by the boys. The youngsters, with a smite of help from their dads, built a small wooden car, hopefully gravity propelled. The cars are raced on a specially built wooden track.

WINNERS FROM PACK 130 were: Grand Champion—Michael Scott; Second Place—Kelly Mayfield; Funny Car—Mike Gensler; and Pretty Car—Kenny Nagunst. Winners in each den heat were: Den One: First Place—Mark Ford and Second Place—Shannon Edwards. Michael Scott took first place honors and Mike Gensler second place honors from Den Two. Tim Nash placed first and Tim Stokes placed second for Den Four. Kelly Mayfield wrapped up first place and Randy Whipple bagged second place for Den Six.

THE BOYS WERE awarded beautiful trophies, each featuring a small race car. The trophies were graciously donated by Dick and Jane Ives. Many adults in our Gene Howe area helped make this event a success. Scouting is fun for the entire family.

PACK 130's NEXT event will be the Blue and Gold Banquet to be held February 22 at 6:30 p.m., in the school cafeteria. This is a family banquet, with the entertainment to be provided by the Cubs.

THE AMARILLO AREA Council of Parent Teacher Association held its monthly meeting last Monday. Representing Gene Howe School were Ernestine Harp, Glenna Schmidt and Troyce Mulherin. John Robinson, pharmacist, gave an interesting and informative program on poison prevention. To most of us this sounds old-hat, but the fact remains that in 1971 over one million accidental poisoning cases were reported; three-fourths of the victims were children, and 95 per cent of these victims were under adult supervision at the time of the poisoning. The week of March 18 through 24 has been designated as National Poison Prevention Week, and we all need to renew our concern and review the preventive measures we employ in our homes.

SOME CHILDREN WILL eat or drink anything they can get their hands on, including medicine, household cleaning and polishing agents, insecticides, poison substances, paints, plants and even cosmetics. All of which can cause disfigurement, scaring, permanent damage of many natures, if not death. Mr. Robinson closed his program with the statement that, "All of these accidents are preventable, and we are responsible." Think about this, and check over your precautions. The pain and guilt associated with an accidental poisoning can be avoided with a little forethought. Jot down this number somewhere handy—376-4431—it is the number of the Emergency Poison Control Center at Northwest Texas Hospital. The center is open 24 hours a day.

THE WEEK OF February 5 through 11 is National Dental Week, and the youngsters at Gene Howe have been studying dental hygiene with a flair, covering methods employed in various countries from 3000 B.C. to the present.

SIXTH GRADERS MADE posters depicting the most interesting (and yucky) methods of dental care. Favorite themes adopted included the ancient Egyptians cutting up a mouse and putting the pieces over an aching tooth. These hardy souls also felt that the eating of two mice a week would ward off toothaches. Try this one—the Chinese used puncture therapy. Needless to say, the youngsters avidly depicted these and other touching remedies (in living color) on said posters. It's worth going over and seeing these posters. The ol' toothbrush gains renewed respect.

AFTER LOSING TWO games by one heartbreaking point each, Herb McGregor's fifth grade basketball team won over Hamlet with a score of 21 to 8.

TRY THIS—A worm wanted to crawl up an eight inch stalk. He crawled up two inches each day and slid back one inch each night. How long does it take him to crawl to the top? Use a number line to find the solution to this wriggly problem. If this is completely foreign to you, come Tuesday night to the Modern Math Course. Seven o'clock at Gene Howe. See you.

THANKS FOR THE use of the hall.

Troyce, 352-6053

Miss Frederick, Journalist, To Speak Monday At WTSU

NBC News' United Nations correspondent Pauline Frederick, whose calm, authoritative voice has been familiar to television and radio listeners for 17 years, will appear Monday at West Texas State University.

Miss Frederick, who has reported major news events throughout the world, will speak at 8 p.m. in the Activities Center. She is presented under auspices of the WTSU Special Programs Series.

One of the most eminent figures in a profession traditionally dominated by men, Miss Frederick has received 15 honorary degrees and numerous awards.

She won the first State of Pennsylvania achievement award for excellence in journalism in 1967; the University of Southern California journalism award, also in 1967, and the Headliners' Award in 1968. She was named "Woman of the Year" for 1964 by the American Association of University Women for her "contribution to international understanding."

In October, 1969, she received a Gold Medal from the YWCA organization of Philadelphia. She also won the Theta Sigma Phi National Headliner Award as the outstanding woman in radio, and the George Foster Peabody Award for her UN reporting.

Other accolades include the DuPont Commentator's award for "outstanding work in the field of interpretive radio reporting." She twice received McCall's Golden Mike Award as the outstanding woman in radio and TV, and was honored by the University of Missouri for distinguished service in journalism.

Miss Frederick was for two consecutive years the only reporter in a Gallup Poll of the world's "ten most admired women."

In 1966, Miss Frederick received the first award given by the East-West Center in Honolulu, an American educational institution founded to promote mutual understanding among the peoples of Asia, the Pacific area and the United States.

Born in Gallitzin, Pa., and raised in Harrisburg, Miss., she majored in political science at American University, where she also received a master's degree in international law. Honorary degrees came from Ohio University, William Jewell College, Boston University, Mt. Holyoke College, Gettysburg College, American University and Bates College.

She got her start in journalism interviewing wives of diplomats and selling the stories to the Washington Star. She later wrote for the North American Newspaper Alliance and then covered assignments overseas. She made her first overseas broadcast from Chungking in 1945.

Joining NBC News in 1953, she has reported on the Nuremberg trials of German war criminals and on national political conventions and elections. From the UN, she has reported the resignation of Trygve Lie from the UN's Secretary General post, and the troubled months following the passing of Dag Hammarskjold.

She was the only woman ever to be elected president of the United Nations Correspondent's Association. Her first book, "Ten First Ladies of the World," was published in 1967.

Tickets for her appearance, priced at $2 for adults and $1 for students are available at the Activities Center box office. Tickets are free to WTSU faculty, staff and students with ID cards.

Palo Duro State Park To Get New Facilities

The Texas Department of Parks and Wildlife is to expand the facilities at Palo Duro State Park soon, State Representative Bryan Poff told The News this week.

According to Poff, a $42,800 contract is to be let locally in April for the construction of new restrooms and barbecue facilities at the park. Work on the project is scheduled to be completed about June 1.

The construction was given approval during the Jan. 26 meeting of the Parks and Wildlife Commission. The additional facilities were necessitated because of the tremendous growth experienced by the musical, "TEXAS," said Poff. "I was happy to be able to help Raymond Raillard and the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society get these new facilities. "TEXAS" not only brings thousands of tourists to the state each year but it serves as a great economic boon to the Panhandle each year," the representative said.

Raillard said the Panhandle Heritage Foundation, sponsor of the musical-drama "Texas," had requested the barbecue and restroom facilities due to the large crowds which flock annually to see the outdoor production.

"Our facilities have been inadequate for the last several seasons since our crowds have increased," he said.

Lindseys Visit Long Beach -- Offspring Amused With Bingo

By MILDRED TURNER

THESE LOVELY DAYS one wants to go biking, hiking, climb a mountain or tree and many have been doing just that. A lot of the youngsters have been enjoying their trampolines also.

THE NEWLY ORGANIZED club has not called in any news but I did hear they are called the "Merry Makers" and meet on Wednesdays. When you elect officers, please select a reporter who will call in your news.

RANDY CARTHEL, JOE Moss or Jamie Walker, would you call and let me know what's going on "wheels?"

WHEN THE CLAY Lindseys went to Long Beach recently, Judy and I shared the children. Two of my nieces and two nephews. One of the old games we played one night was Bingo. I had picked up a sack of goodies at Woolies (Woolsworth); color books, balloons, pick-up sticks, a diary, cologne, wee girl's mirror sets, wrist watches, etc. Sure kept about a dozen kiddoes quiet while the older ones called and the others played. This is a good idea for family reunions when inclement weather changes your plans. For quick concocted snacks prepare: Do it yourself parched peanuts (with handy paper plates for hulls), pretzels dipped in powdered sugar icing (dried on wax paper), served from a colorful tray; scads of buttered popcorn, drowned with barrels of hot chocolate, coke or fruit juice punch.

WHILE IN LONG Beach Clay and Chris were joined by a brother, Weldon, wife, Kay, and daughter Rita of San Diego, Calif. They had a real fun trip and I think the children had fun also.

SOME OF YOU may have been unable to get me this week, since Garland's mother has been pretty sick. I heard Estelle and Onnie Atkerson had been sick. Hope all are improving rapidly during this beautiful weather.

ELIZABETH MCGAHEY IS improving daily we are happy to report.

VALORIE MCCLENDON AND children, Sherry, Danny and John Clark, had a very pleasant weekend visiting her mother and dad, Mr. and Mrs. Foy Pierce of Irving, Texas.

I DID NOT get to attend but from all reports The Palisades Home Demonstration Club had a wonderful time at Judy Detten's on February 1. They made the pin cushions as mentioned before. I made a drastic mistake, the hanger-upper is of metal instead of plastic. Also, Becky did not get to meet with us but will present the program "Beware of Being Fed a Line" on Feb. 15. The roll call will answer to "How I cope with high pressure salesmen." This should be real good if you girls give it some thought. When the girls had their sack lunches, Judy served drinks, chips and dips. The members discussed the various crafts they plan to do and for you who want to do more quilting, I hear there will also be more of that.

EDITH AND JACK Stevens were gone on a week vacation down to Victoria, Texas (near Corpus). They visited their daughter and son-in-law, Arlene and Larry Ford and grandsons, Arlen Mark and Jack Woodrow (brand new and named for grandpa Jack). The Stevens also enjoyed the beach.

VISITED WITH BETTY Wright this week and guess what she's up to now? She's a hair dresser in her sister's shop at 5227 Astoria (Wed., Thurs., and Fri.). I may go try her. If Betty fixes hair like she does most things, she's a whiz! Since Marcella closed shop, I've been wandering. . . . as you can tell by looking. . . . My hair is naturally wavy; one hair stands up and waves at another in the wind!

FROM WHAT I hear it really costs for a man to get his hair "styled" now-a-days. I guess the barbers have to make up for all those who just let it all hang down. We like the mustache and side burns if they are neatly trimmed. One evening we heard Garland's razor buzzing away so we made a mad dash to save his mustache. I was making a salad so I had a long knife in my hand and the girls were right behind me. He looked at us in amazement and explained that he was only shaving because he didn't feel well and thought he might have to go to the hospital. Saved the mustache.

I FINALLY BEGGED Garland in to letting me do the trimming on his when it grew about one inch and was prickly and risky. The reason I said risky: the other day he was drinking tea and when I came up and kissed him, he innocently tea-ed on me. Like squeezing out a sponge! Now, if you decide to trim your husband's mustache, be sure to follow these directions carefully: 1. Catch him in a good, patient mood. 2. Cut a pattern of cardboard the desired design. The Handle Bar design is popular and gives a pleasant smiling appearance. For a more sober effect, cut the bars off, leaving the center, sort of (Hail, Hale, Hell?) Hitler Style. 3. Trim slowly and carefully (scissors are better than the butcher knife). 4. Test repeatedly (by a kiss) to see if mustache is desired effect. If it's too long, it's too tickly, too short it's too prickly! If you men wish to save money by letting your wife trim your mustache, both of you come over and I'd be glad to show her but I don't have the license to trim or test either.

HAS ANYONE SEEN a pair of 'possoms lately? A small one and a large one? If so, they belong to the Boothes and the Turners. I fed one a piece of bread out the window the other night but I sure watched his teeth, sure looked "sharp" as do his nose and eyes. Elly says they are enjoying them also (from her description must be the same pair). Junior (our runt squirrel) came into the house for a nut but could not remember which window he used, so mama or papa, one, came in, scolded him, grabbed a nut and showed him the exit. I saw a cute sign down at the Horne's which read "Squirrel Crossing."

Mildred, 622-0701

Pat Trammell, of the Canyon Future Farmers of America, showed this Grand Champion market barrow in the Southwest Exposition and Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth. The animal was raised by Del Ray and Neil James of Canyon.

West To Head Easter Seal Campaign Here

David West of Canyon will head the 1973 Easter Seal Appeal in Randall County, it was announced by Rodney D. Hargrave, Dallas, President of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas.

Residents of Randall County will receive the annual Easter Seal Appeal letters in the mail beginning March 1. The Easter Seal Appeal, conducted yearly to provide disabled persons and their families treatment and services, will continue through Easter Sunday, April 22.

West is one of 223 men and women throughout Texas who are serving in this capacity. The cost of the statewide Easter Seal program is over $1 million, financed mainly by the Easter Seal Appeal. Almost 90 percent of all funds raised by the Easter Seal Appeal remain in Texas to support the growing needs of the disabled in the State.

Special emphasis is being given in the 1973 Easter Seal Appeal to the disabled citizens in Randall County who may need assistance and not know where to obtain it. Any disabled person can contact West at First National Bank, P.O. Box 119, Canyon, who will provide the request form for a determination of the extent and type of assistance needed and the most efficient means of obtaining that assistance. Arrangements for qualified treatment or service will be made by the Easter Seal Society.

Parents Invited To Senior Reception Saturday Evening

By MARY NEAL HENRY

THE FAMILY CELEBRATED Sheri's nineteenth birthday last Thursday by dining at the Yum Yum Tree. The food was delicious and the host most gracious. We really enjoyed it. Angelique was given a straw which held a coupon stating if she were good during the meal, she could claim a prize. The prize was a shell. When put in water, it opened and a flower emerged.

ALL SENIOR MOMS and Dads are invited to the reception from 6 to 7 on Saturday evening in the "little gym." This reception will honor the seniors and will end with a grand march into the banquet hall. This year's Sweetheart Banquet theme is "Somewhere My Love."

CAROL McKILLIP AND her Wes and Allen of Altus, Okla., visited her parents, Irene and Harry Hardaway several days of last week.

JUANITA AND W. T. Robinson left on Thursday of last week and returned this week from a visit to Marcus and Bill Conway and their Laura and Will Mack of Tuscon, Ariz. Judy and Jo Beth Thompson accompanied the Robinsons to Tucson to visit the "Bozo" Thompson family.

GWEN TUCEK HOSTED the Sunnyhill Home Demonstration last Thursday. She served brownies, cookies, coffee and punch to Sharon McCarley, Maurine Allison, Mary Wilhelm, Shirley Williams, Jo Hand, Barbara Danner, Lou Doughtery, Phyllis Bryan, Melissa Tucek and Mary Neal Henry. Barbara Danner demonstrated the art of foiling and several members worked on items they brought to the meeting. For our meeting in March, we plan to tour TSTI.

MACE MIDDLETON HAD a birthday last week. His parents let him go to Kiddy City and pick out his own birthday present. He got a tank and Screamin' Demon. This story isn't nearly so good in writing as told me by Mace, himself. His eyes got bigger with each thought he recalled. And they ate at McDonald's. (If you are four years old, there's simply no more exciting place.) That Mace is quite a character. He is the four-year-old son of Alice and Ronnie Middleton and has a brother, Marty, 1½.

GRANDMA FORBUS, THAT'S Ethel Forbus, was 83 years young on that very snowy and blowing Saturday, Jan. 27. Lena Mae and Babe Walberg cooked birthday dinner and invited everyone, but because of the weather, few were able to enjoy it. Can't remember who all, but seems as if Uncle Ed and Grammer Lollar were there. Louise Stubblefield and Bob Loudder were two that helped celebrate. And every single one of Grandma's children and even grandchildren remembered her. Joe Ed and Maurine called from Borger (they came the next day when the roads became passable); Vickie Kendrick Brighten called from Colorado; Jo and David called from Norway and the line was so clear; Nancy Smith called from Dallas; David and Rhonda Whitmas in Alaska remembered her and Jim Forbus gave altar flowers to their church in Alcott City, Maryland, in honor of their Grandma. Grandma got the sweetest card from the minister there. Grandma said she'd never been remembered in so many different ways on one birthday before. Well, Happy Birthday, Grandma. And I hope we get to help you celebrate many more!

I WENT BY Skip Simons last week. On the porch was the Simon's 400 to 500 pound pet calf, Blackie . . . only Skip says they've "shortened" his name to "D-inglehoffer." If he gets much bigger, they will have to enlarge their porch. The calf stands there and looks at you through the storm door as you sit in a kitchen chair. I dared her to open the door. Bet he'd come right on in the house.

I BEGAN REMEMBERING Ferd, our black calf, raised from birth on a bottle. Ferd (short for Ferdinand) was born a twin in the spring before the rains came. I guess his mama knew that she couldn't feed two calves. Tom brought him home and the kids and I raised him. He drank powdered milk and calf milk and he ate calf manna, dog food and table scraps. Ferd had even been seen to gnaw on a beef bone. (We thought that rather cannabalistic.) Ferd played with our German Shepherd and thought himself a dog. After all, he's never seen cattle. And he was grown before he ever identified with cattle.

AS FERD GREW, the holes he walked in and out of the pasture grew. As he got older, he also ate with the horses. Why not? Ferd "ruled the roost." No one ever crossed him. I'd call him as you'd call a dog when it was time for his bottle. We fed him long after it was necessary. He was so cute about it. Sometimes, Ferd would argue with you to come to him. But he'd finally decide to give in for want of the milk.

FERD GRAZED UP and down both "bar" ditches. The children told everyone that he always looked both ways before he crossed the highway. Indeed he did seem to do so.

CHRISTMAS EVE THAT year, a neighbor called. Jo Hand simply and sympathizingly said, "Who did it?" I knew what she meant. I explained that I didn't know and asked where "he" was. Jo said about a half mile from the house. I walked out the front door and called, "Ferd". From the corrals came a mellow, sleepy answer. I yelled, "Ferd, is that you?" Ferd answered again. I couldn't believe it. I got in the pick-up anyway and drove down the highway. Surely enough, there was a black steer, about Ferd's size, and he wasn't yet cold. I found his brand and called the owner, but the owner had already been informed of the accident. We went ahead and had a Merry Christmas.

THE DAY CAME when Ferd outgrew all his "exits". He didn't give up easily. He learned to back up and make a run at the space between the gate and loading chute where men walked into and out of the corral. That worked for a while. Then he'd hang up in the middle. It was his first defeat.

LATE EVERY MORNING, Ferd would come up and "beller" until he aroused attention from somewhere. That was when I found out that Tom had been feeding him whenever he came to the house — not just with the horses.

LATER, AFTER THE rains came and the pastures greened with grass everywhere, we brought cattle home. Ferd never associated with them. When the cattle were gathered (driven to the corrals at the house) Ferd stood nonchalantly by and watched. If he chose to, he came in later . . . all by himself. He never tired of your cutting the cockle burrs out of his fur. He enjoyed it.

WE USED TO wonder what we'd ever do with Ferd. We still do. Ferd is with us yet.

See ya,
Mary Neal

Eagles Lose To Lobos

Canyon's boy Eagles lost to undefeated Levelland Tuesday night after a slow first quarter start was too much to overcome despite nip-and-tuck-play during the final three periods. The final score was 85-74 but it did not totally reflect the play of the Canyon five.

The Lobos, who have racked up 25 wins this season and have posted no losses, jumped out in front during the first quarter, 16-6, and then managed to hang on against the determined Eagles, mainly through a high number of free throws.

The Eagles outscored the tall Lobos from the field by a 10-point margin, but saw their opponents hit on 27 of 39 free tosses. The Eagles were awarded only eight foul shots and hit on six of them.

"The first quarter and the free throws made the difference," said coach B.B. Kendrick. "I thought the boys had an outstanding effort." He noted that Ed Lair and Bill Moore held Levelland's All-State Grant Dukes to only 15 points, and only eight of those from the field.

Wayne Pitt again led Eagle scoring with his 22 points. Andy Cooper netted 18 while Lair scored nine, Moore eight, Bob Counseller five, Ronnie Cates and Gary Don Byars four each, and Gary Gerber two.

According to Kendrick, foul trouble hurt the Eagles throughout the game.

In the rebounding department, Andy Cooper led Canyon with a total of 12. The team pulled 22 defensive bounces off the boards but were short on the offensive end of the court with only nine.

The shortage of offensive rebounds also hurt the Eagles' chances, the coach said, but turnovers, which have hurt Canyon on past occasions, were kept down to only seven. "That was good for us," said Kendrick.

To show that the Eagles stayed in the game, the coach pointed to their pulling to within six points near the end of the third quarter. "And we played them to a one-point difference in the last three quarters," he said. During the last three periods, the Lobos scored 69 points while the Eagles were posting 68.

"We weren't dominated," Kendrick said. "Anytime you can beat a team the size of Levelland from the field you're doing alright."

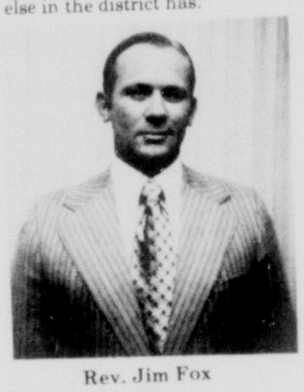

During halftime ceremonies, parents of the Eagles were introduced along with their sons. "It was just our way to show the parents that we appreciate their help and support, said the coach. The mothers were presented flowers.

Friday night, the Eagles tackle Muleshoe at home and will be looking forward to their second win over the tough Mules.

In a game played at Muleshoe in mid-January, the Eagles came from behind in the final four minutes and won 54-53 behind the 28-points of Pitt.

In that game, the Eagles held the taller Mules to but four field goals and 14 points during the entire second half. "We went there expecting a tough game and it was," said Kendrick following that important win.

This week, Kendrick was confident as he prepared to meet the Mules, saying, "We played Levelland closer than anybody else in the district has."

Library Exhibit Visits Canyon HS

New juvenile books of 1972 and selected professional books from 65 publishers are currently on display at the High School Teachers' Lounge. The exhibit runs through Feb. 9 and is open to all who are interested between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

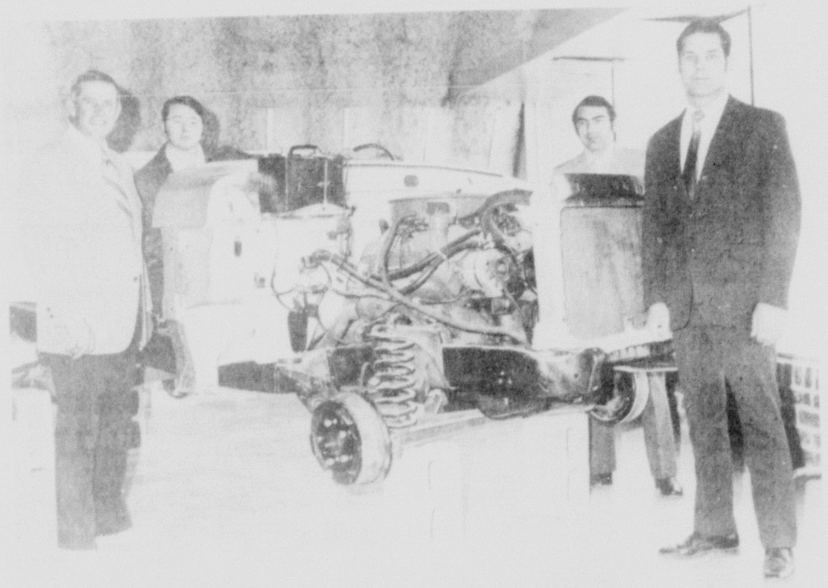

The new juvenile books are designed for teenagers and young adults and cover hundreds of subjects and interest areas. The professional books, which deal with many of the problems confronting education today, will have special appeal for teachers, librarians, curriculum specialists, and school administrators in general. But the concerned parent and citizen should find the exhibit at both levels a rewarding one to visit.

The exhibit is locally sponsored by Canyon High School in cooperation with Books on Exhibit, a national exhibiting service now in its 22nd year.

The traveling library was brought to Canyon through the efforts of Mrs. Jackie Patterson, school librarian.

2 Teams Top Tourney Play

In an eight grade tournament held at Canyon Junior High School last weekend, the Canyon purple boys and the Canyon white girls took top honors.

The final game in the boy's segment saw the Canyon purples down the Canyon whites by a 33-31 score while Boys Ranch won the consolation game by beating Dumas 36-35.

All-Tournament selections from the Canyon teams were Mike Flynn, Ron Hickman, Ricky Cooper, James Walling, James Adams and Jonathan Hull.

The girl's portion of the tourney ended with the Canyon whites downing the Canyon purples 33-29 in the championship game. Fannin Junior High School of Amarillo took third place by beating Amarillo's Highland Park 28-19.

Fifth place was won by Bushland as they defeated Alamo of Amarillo 26-25.

All of the games were extremely close with most of the games being decided by only one or two points.

There were no All-Tournament selections made in girl's play.

Julie Brantley, Gary Cox and Chip Van Pelt, Canyon High School art students, took top honors at the regional Scholastic Art Awards show in Amarillo last week and their works will be entered in national competition to be judged later this year in New York City.

CHS Art Students Win In Amarillo

Canyon High School art students won more than their share of awards at regional judging for the Scholastic Art Awards held in Amarillo last weekend.

Julie Brantley was nominated for national entry in the 1972 Hallmark Honor Prize with her mixed media work, and she and Gary Cox and Chip Van Pelt also were chosen to represent the region with their portfolio entries.

Their entries will be entered in national competition to be judged in New York City later this year.

The Hallmark Honor Prize, for which Miss Brantley will be competing, will be awarded to one entrant in each region and includes a prize of $100.

Winners in the other four categories vieing for the prize were students at Tascosa High School and Sam Houston Junior High School of Amarillo.

Winners of the other eight portfolio categories were students from Tascosa and Palo Duro high schools in Amarillo and from Borger High School.

Some 1,100 entries were submitted in the various categories which also included photography. No photographic entries were submitted by Canyon High School.

The works will be on display in the Western Plaza Mall through Feb. 24.

Several gold achievement keys and certificates of merit were also presented but a detailed list of the winners was not available early this week. The Northwest Texas Region is made up of about 130 schools in a 50 county area.

White Team Having Banner Year

The freshman boys white team of Canyon Junior High School is reaching the end of one of the most successful seasons in history, leaving several school records in its wake.

With a season record of 15-3, the 9th grade white team has won first place trophies in both the Dimmitt and Canyon freshman tournaments, and set a school record for points scored when they downed Olton 88-67 in the finals of the Dimmitt meet.

"It was the first team to win two first place trophies since 1960," said coach Lewis Tversky.

The coach also cited the boys for having defeated LaPlata of Hereford, the first time a Canyon white team had turned the trick.

"And they set a school record for most consecutive wins in a season," coach Tversky added. The current team has won 13 in a row while the old school mark had been 11 straight.

In recent outings, the Canyon whites downed Sanford-Fritch by a score of 61-51, and took River Road of Amarillo 37-36.

At the time, Sanford-Fritch had a record of 14-2 and River Road had been undefeated at 12-0.

Said Tversky, "I've been here five years coaching ninth graders and this is the best team I've seen." He added that the team is averaging 58 points per game and on only seven occasions have been held to less than 50 points.

Brian Dodson, Kenny Basinger, Craig Johnson and Hoss Ratliff are all scoring in double figures, the coach said. He credited the team with "enthusiasm and desire" and said the defense had to be good or they couldn't win.

Coach Tversky said the team excelled under pressure, and in only four of their 17 games were they ahead at halftime.

Other members of the white squad are David Coronado, Richard McDonald, Jay Huey, Lesly Isaacs, Gary Castleman, Lyndon Brazile, Webb Brown, Steve Ranne, Dell Hall, Wade Haws and Tom Dawdy.

The freshman purple team, coached by Danny Haney, has a record of 6-10 but has split 1-1 in their meetings with the highly touted Canyon white team.

The purples took second place in both the Canyon and Hereford tourneys, losing to Canyon's white in the finals of the home event. It was the first time two Canyon teams had met in the finals of a freshman tournament, the coaches said.

Coach Haney described his charges as "a good team ball club" with a good potential. He admitted that they were not always consistent, however, with this bringing about some of their losses.

Purple scoring is led by Donnie Bell, Allen Shankles and Ken Cooper who are all hitting in double figures.

Other members of the purple group are Jack Wright, Greg Taylor, Don Thompson, Mark Nelson, Terry Martin, Eric Van Pelt, Randy Brietling, Mickey McCarter, Gene Tenerio, Charles Schaumann, Bill Luquette, Terry Comer, Steve Irlbeck and Greg Persall.

According to both Tversky and Haney, varsity basketball coach B. B. Kendrick has expressed confidence that some of the players coming out of the freshman squads will be a help to him next year. When the players move over to the high school next year, it will be the first time the white and purple groups have performed together.

"Next year, when they are put together, they should make a fine club," Tversky said.

The purple team will play La Plata of Hereford at home today and the whites travel to Hereford next Monday. On Feb. 15, the white and purple teams will wind up the season by playing each other on their home court.

Both coaches expressed appreciation to parents and others who have supported the teams and basketball program throughout the season.

Martha Johnson Wins More QHA Honors

By TOOTIE BYBEE

HERE IT IS well into February and getting closer to spring. Can't wait til the sun shines on us again. Finally have gotten used to writing 1973 on my checks. Took a whole month to do so. Hello to Mr. and Mrs. Hines who bought some pigeons from us the other day. Sure do enjoy your daughter-in-law's new column in the paper. Well, once again Miss Marty Johnson has done it. Honors upon honors have been heaped upon this young lady and well deserved, I might add. She has won the High Point Open and High Point Youth in the Golden Spread Quarter Horse Association which covers about 250 mile radius. She is the only youth to ever win the Open spot in this particular Association.

There was quite an awards ceremony for her and she was presented her saddle by Bill Davis of Teepee Western Store of Amarillo. I hope I get all this right, to win this place, here are a few of the things she won leading up to the honor. She won Junior Pleasure, reining, and English, Youth High Point mare, showmanship, pleasure, English and second in reining and high Senior Youth. Congratulations to you, Marty and we are very proud to have you here abouts.

IF YOU HAVEN'T heard from Jo Ann Fowlkes or seen her stirring about lately, it is because about 3 weeks ago she broke her leg!! Would you believe this story? She broke it going into church — she just fell. I've heard of the building falling down on people from shock, but never this. Anyway, hope she's off those crutches just real quick and back to her busy beaver activities. It really hasn't slowed her down that much. Saw her at the Christian Women's Club meeting in a lovely long skirt with crutches and all.

WANT TO SEND a big congratulations along to Mr. Sam Clements. He has recently sold two different articles to the magazine "Field and Stream." Don't know when they will be published but am happy to know this good fortune has come their way. Anyway, when I need a replacement for this column I know who to call on.

WE HAD SEVERAL kiddos in the talent show the other evening at Canyon Junior High. The talent show was sponsored by The Heritage Woman's Club and the money went to the Neblett Nursery. So, while entertaining and fun, it was very worthwhile. Matt Malson played a piano solo. Traca Cooper and Terry Miller were in a group of six known as "The Unknowns" and took a second in the 5th through 7th division. Keep up the good work, kids.

IF YOU'RE WONDERING about that three wheeling motorcycle running around, it is Jubal Gillis having a ball. Most likely it is also Todd Williams hanging right on there with him. Funny looking machine, isn't it?

THE WHITEHEADS WERE happy to have Mike's little sister Julie Odom stay the weekend with them.

IF YOU NEED a few Girl Scout cookies, little Michelle Arnett is selling them in our neighborhood and she'll be glad to oblige you. Call 622-0279, if she doesn't get by. Noticed the Sunday paper carried some very delicious recipes to make use of the cookies, other than just plain good eating. Aren't the advertisements just precious this year.

THE THURSDAY CLUB was back in full swing this week and we were all so glad. It was like old home week. Hadn't seen some of the gals since Christmas. It is funny, I can find out more in five minutes there than two or three days anywhere else.

NOTICED THE CREWS have put out some new trees and they had a whole yard full of pretty Mountain Bluebirds the other day. I was so jealous. I know by the time I'm 65 I'll have some kinda trees around here.

THE CAMP FIRE Girls made peanut butter cookies and went on a hike and welcomed a new member, Barbara Brooks all in the same afternoon. Seems we had an audience while on the hike. Don't know if they thought we were attacking or if they were just curious or what. Anyway Traca Cooper said we were going to be arrested for disturbing the peace. Really, Terry and boys, we were only singing.

THE 8TH GRADE purple team that Ricky Cooper is on won in the recent tournament. Good luck on the others.

TALKED TO JUNE Van Landingham a few minutes the other evening and she said Glen had been working out of town and she had been staying in Amarillo with her parents so long she had about forgotten what every one looked like. So hello to June.

THOUGHT I WOULD send this recipe along to you. Got it from Joyce Minor and it is great. It is called

Quick Coffee Cake

¾ cup sugar
¼ cup soft shortening
1 egg
½ cup milk
1½ cup flour
2 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt

HEAT OVEN TO 375 degrees. Grease and flour square pan. Mix sugar, shortening, and eggs thoroughly. Stir in milk. Measure flour and blend in dry ingredients. Spread batter in pan.

FOR A SPECIAL treat add this filling: Spread half of the batter in pan and add half strussel mixture, add remaining batter and finish off with remaining strussel mixture.

STRUSSEL MIXTURE: MIX ½ cup brown sugar packed, 2 Tbsp. flour, 2 tsp. cinnamon, 2 Tbsp. butter and ½ cup chopped nuts. Bake 25 to 35 minutes.

SEE YA NEXT time, God Bless.

400 Students Here In Meet At University

Approximately 400 students from 33 colleges and universities will participate in an indoor recreational tournament at West Texas State University this week.

"It is the first time that WTSU has hosted the tournament," said Frank Castleberry, director of the Activities Center. "Until our Activities Center was completed two years ago we did not have the facilities for the tournament.

"Now our facilities are among the finest of the universities in Region 12."

The three-day tournament opens today with registration from 2-7 p.m.

The several hundred students get right at it with competition in bowling, bridge and chess at 8 p.m. today.

The men's bowling will be at Western Bowl in Amarillo and the women's competition will be at the WTSU lanes in the Activities Center.

Contests in billiards, table tennis and racket ball will begin at 8 a.m. Friday. All competition will be concluded Saturday.

"This will be one of the biggest Region 12 tournaments ever held," Castleberry said. "We have been surprised at the large number of students planning to come because of our remoteness in the geographical layout of Region 12."

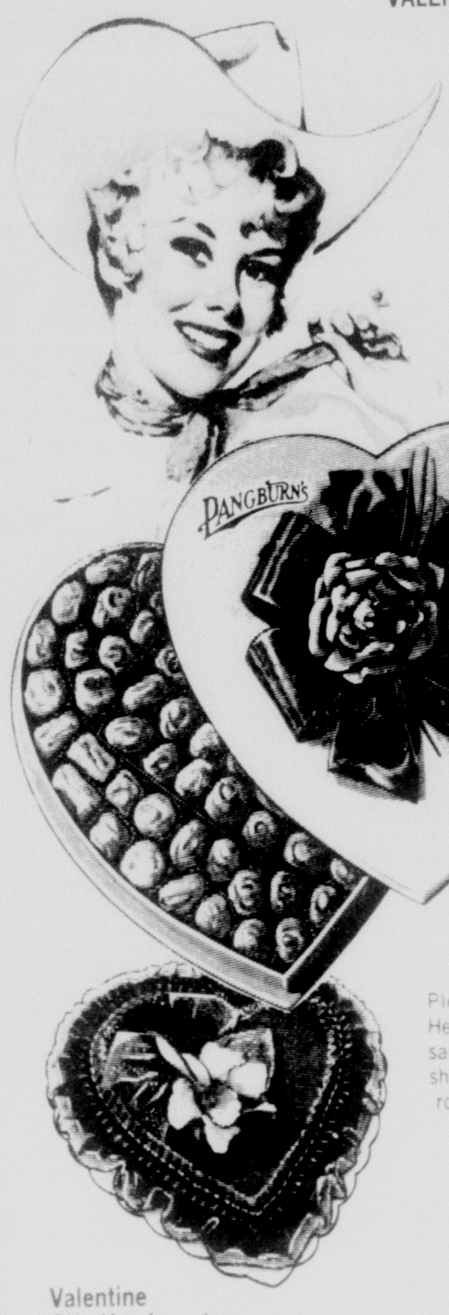

Among the universities intending to participate are Louisiana State, Tulane, Arkansas State, Texas, LSU-New Orleans, Texas Tech, Texas A&M, Baylor, Houston, Texas-El Paso, Trinity, North Texas State, Grambling, Lamar and Amarillo College.

Bill Snead of the Amarillo Chess Club will conduct the tournament's chess competition.

Other directors are Frances Hampton of Borger, bridge; A. L. Pruitt of WTSU, racket ball; Mike Estes of WTSU, billiards; Hal Brown, manager of the WTSU bowling center, men's bowling; Patt Neill, WTSU physical education instructor, women's bowling; and Wayne Schulz, WTSU mathematics instructor, table tennis.

a beautiful day to switch to electric heat

electric heating estimate

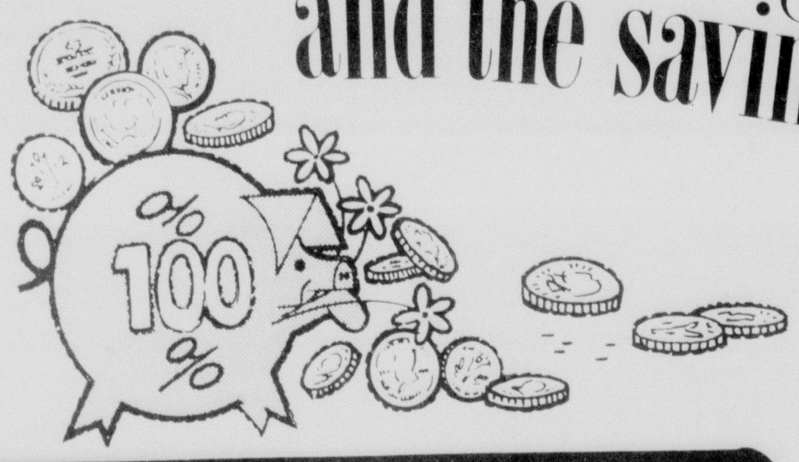

On a cold day of the year? Why not? Electric is the only heat that can be installed without the discomfort of a cold house. Baseboard units can be installed without shutting down your furnace. Or, portable electric units keep you warm during the installation of a new electric furnace. Today or any day is a beautiful day to switch to electric heat. Call us for a free estimate.
